

Keystone XL: What You Can Do

KXL-specific:

- Join the Pledge of Resistance to Keystone XL (nokxl.org/pledge), indicating that you're willing to risk arrest (or to support those risking arrest) in an act of nonviolent civil disobedience if it looks like the President will approve the pipeline. Once you have signed up for the main action, be sure to sign up for the Seattle-specific one, so you're on our mailing lists.
- The 30-day public comment period begins on Weds. February 5. The comment form will be available from regulations.gov after the 5th, or you can write to: U.S. Department of State Bureau of Energy Resources, Room 4843 Attn: Keystone XL Public Comments 2201 C Street, NW Washington, DC 20520.

Related (but not KXL):

- Call your state reps and ask the to support HB 2347 and SB 6262, the Oil Transportation Safety Act
- Also ask your representatives in the State House to support HB2465, which will close an oil industry loophole and recover $41 million for the state.

Please visit 350Seattle.org/ACT to see what you can do about other climate-related issues: coal trains, fossil fuel divestment, and more. We need you: please join us!

Keystone XL: What You Can Do

KXL-specific:

- Join the Pledge of Resistance to Keystone XL (nokxl.org/pledge), indicating that you're willing to risk arrest (or to support those risking arrest) in an act of nonviolent civil disobedience if it looks like the President will approve the pipeline. Once you have signed up for the main action, be sure to sign up for the Seattle-specific one, so you're on our mailing lists.
- The 30-day public comment period begins on Weds. February 5. The comment form will be available from regulations.gov after the 5th, or you can write to: U.S. Department of State Bureau of Energy Resources, Room 4843 Attn: Keystone XL Public Comments 2201 C Street, NW Washington, DC 20520.

Related (but not KXL):

- Call your state reps and ask the to support HB 2347 and SB 6262, the Oil Transportation Safety Act
- Also ask your representatives in the State House to support HB2465, which will close an oil industry loophole and recover $41 million for the state.

Please visit 350Seattle.org/ACT to see what you can do about other climate-related issues: coal trains, fossil fuel divestment, and more. We need you: please join us!

Keystone XL: What You Can Do

KXL-specific:

- Join the Pledge of Resistance to Keystone XL (nokxl.org/pledge), indicating that you're willing to risk arrest (or to support those risking arrest) in an act of nonviolent civil disobedience if it looks like the President will approve the pipeline. Once you have signed up for the main action, be sure to sign up for the Seattle-specific one, so you're on our mailing lists.
- The 30-day public comment period begins on Weds. February 5. The comment form will be available from regulations.gov after the 5th, or you can write to: U.S. Department of State Bureau of Energy Resources, Room 4843 Attn: Keystone XL Public Comments 2201 C Street, NW Washington, DC 20520.

Related (but not KXL):

- Call your state reps and ask the to support HB 2347 and SB 6262, the Oil Transportation Safety Act
- Also ask your representatives in the State House to support HB2465, which will close an oil industry loophole and recover $41 million for the state.

Please visit 350Seattle.org/ACT to see what you can do about other climate-related issues: coal trains, fossil fuel divestment, and more. We need you: please join us!

Keystone XL: What You Can Do

KXL-specific:

- Join the Pledge of Resistance to Keystone XL (nokxl.org/pledge), indicating that you're willing to risk arrest (or to support those risking arrest) in an act of nonviolent civil disobedience if it looks like the President will approve the pipeline. Once you have signed up for the main action, be sure to sign up for the Seattle-specific one, so you're on our mailing lists.
- The 30-day public comment period begins on Weds. February 5. The comment form will be available from regulations.gov after the 5th, or you can write to: U.S. Department of State Bureau of Energy Resources, Room 4843 Attn: Keystone XL Public Comments 2201 C Street, NW Washington, DC 20520.

Related (but not KXL):

- Call your state reps and ask the to support HB 2347 and SB 6262, the Oil Transportation Safety Act
- Also ask your representatives in the State House to support HB2465, which will close an oil industry loophole and recover $41 million for the state.

Please visit 350Seattle.org/ACT to see what you can do about other climate-related issues: coal trains, fossil fuel divestment, and more. We need you: please join us!

